The Regular Session of the 86th Legislature was abysmal for the Pro-Life cause. Although Texas Right to Life, grassroots leaders, and voters prioritized only four Pro-Life bills, just one bill (Senate Bill 22, which should have been significantly strengthened) passed and was signed into law. Speaker of the House Dennis Bonnen, who announced his retirement under a cloud of corruption, and his leadership team actively thwarted Pro-Life issues from reaching the House floor for debate and passage—a shocking show of political malfeasance in light of the Pro-Life record achieved by Bonnen and the majority of House Republicans prior to 2019.

Two priority Pro-Life bills passed the State Senate and then died in the committee process in the State House. Because of Speaker Bonnen's blatant betrayal of the Pro-Life movement, the only way to confirm whether individual representatives supported these is to score co-authorship of these two Pro-Life bills: HB 2434, companion of SB 1033, and HB 3158, companion of SB 2089. House members were repeatedly urged by constituents and by Texas Right to Life to co-author these bills and thereby signal their support. Consequently, members who failed to co-author these bills received a six-point penalty on their final score for each Pro-Life priority bill they failed to co-author.

When Representative Matt Krause proposed increasing the funding for the life-affirming Alternatives to Abortion Program, Martinez Fischer voted against the Pro-Life, Pro-Woman amendment. Furthermore, some budget amendments did not receive a record vote when the House debated the budget bill, so members had the opportunity to record their opposition on these particular amendments after the fact in the House Journal. Martinez Fischer went out of his way to oppose a Pro-Life amendment to prohibit hospitals that commit elective abortions from receiving tax funds.

He also refused to support basic protections and medical care for children who survive an attempted abortion. When the measure came up for a vote, Martinez Fischer was “Present, Not Voting,” hoping to confuse voters and avoid responsibility for turning a blind eye to infanticide.

When Representative Steve Toth offered a Pro-Life amendment to House Bill 1504, the bill addressing the Texas Medical Board, Martinez Fischer opposed the amendment and took an anti-Life vote. The amendment added a safeguard for patients in danger of having their life-sustaining treatment forcibly removed.

A shocking 19 amendments were offered by anti-Life representatives to weaken or undermine Senate Bill 22, which prohibits state and local tax dollars from benefitting the abortion industry. Texas Right to Life summarily scored these amendments, and a vote to support any or all of these amendments was scored negatively. Martinez Fischer voted in favor of weakening the Pro-Life priority bill. Martinez Fischer voted against a Pro-Life amendment to Senate Bill 22 that simply clarified cities and counties could ban abortions in their jurisdictions under this bill. By voting against Senate Bill 22, Martinez Fischer publicly supported allowing cities and counties to continue using Texans' tax dollars to benefit the abortion industry.
