Johnson showed his blatant disregard for protecting vulnerable Texas patients on several occasions throughout the legislative session. He authored SB 916, a bill that could potentially harm Texas patients by making them more vulnerable to passive euthanasia. He also voted against reforming the current rule that allows basic life-sustaining treatment (like a ventilator) to be withdrawn from patients against their will after the hospital committee gives the patient a 10-day notice. Texas has more to offer vulnerable patients than imposed death or involuntary euthanasia. Furthermore, Johnson spoke against Pro-Life SB 2089 on the Senate floor, a top Pro-Life priority that would have protected the lives of vulnerable patients from the unethical 10-day rule.

Johnson similarly failed to protect preborn children on several occasions. He not only voted against SB 1033, but rose in front of his colleagues to speak against the Pro-Life priority. Many were shocked by Johnson's public opposition and hostility towards prohibiting the remaining late-term and discriminatory abortions in Texas. By this vote, he publicly endorsed deadly discrimination in the womb. Additionally, Johnson voted against guaranteeing basic protections and medical care for children who survive an attempted abortion. By this vote, he favored infanticide.

Lastly, he voted for amendments clearly intended to weaken or undermine Pro-Life Senate Bill 22, a common sense bill that prohibited cities and counties from using local tax dollars to benefit the abortion industry. By voting against Senate Bill 22, Johnson publicly supported allowing cities and counties to continue using Texans' tax dollars to benefit the abortion industry.

For all these misdeeds and more, Johnson has earned an undignified place on Texas Right to Life's list of Disappointments of the 86th Legislature.
